

LANCASTER, CARRARD COUNTY.

—The holiness meeting was conducted by Rev. F. M. Hill on Monday night at the Presbyterian church.

—The public school that has been taught by Mr. Mack Elliott at Herring's school-house closes to-day.

—The mite society of the Presbyterian church meets with Mrs. Mary Allen Weisger this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

—The subject of Elder George Gowen's discourse on Sunday morning will be "What is in the Midst of the Golden Candle-stick."

—Mr. Milton Elliott's school at West Point will close next Friday when he will bid farewell to Lancaster friends and go to Mayfield.

—Mrs. W. S. O'Neal is still reported very sick. Mr. Ed Bishop, who was so ill, has sufficiently recovered to be at his place of business.

—There was a mother's meeting Wednesday afternoon at Mrs. Hunley Singleton's of the mothers of Miss Margaret Murphy's kindergarten class.

—Married on Wednesday at the home of the bride's parents near the Presbyterville neighborhood, Miss Mattie Anderson and Mr. Henry Arnold, both of this county.

—Many of our busy housewives are truly finding out this week (it being hog killing time with them) that "A man works from sun to sun, but a woman's work is never done."

—The Demorest contest that was to have been the 17th of December has been changed and will occur the 21st of December. The contestants wanted a little more time to prepare for it.

—Died of diphtheria at Paint Lick, in this county, Thurston, the little five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Turpin Whitaker. The remains were brought here and interred in our cemetery on Wednesday.

—A number of our stores are already decorated with pretty holiday goods. To see the bright, happy faced children gazing into the prettily adorned windows would indeed be an incentive for a visit from Santa Claus.

—The officers of the Citizens Bank have bought the old Franklin Institute building, paying $750 for Mr. J. W. Miller's interest in it. They have also purchased the rooms above the bank now occupied by the Central Record.

—If reports be true there will be two weddings at Buckeye in which two sisters in one family will marry. More than likely they will have a double wedding. We know the name of one of the soon to be grooms, but not the other.

—There will be a Masonic supper by the members of that fraternity the night after Xmas, Dec. 26, over R. E. McRoberts' drug store. They think of having a platform erected on the outside that will extend from the drug store to the Masonic Hall.

—The four Sunday schools will unite and have a Xmas tree at the Christian church Xmas Eve. The tree will be principally for the little folks and the committee that arranges the tree will see that the scholars of the four schools are remembered.

—There have been several changes in residences in the past week or two. Mr. Dick Burnside, who purchased the Landrum property, moved his family to it. Mr. George Farris and family have moved from their farm to the Stormes house on Danville street.

—A. B. Brown, who recently got into a difficulty with James Hardin and Walden and was indicted by the grand jury at the present term of court, was pardoned by Gov. Brown. Mr. Brown has about recovered from the wounds he received at the hands of Hardin.

The following republicans attended the inauguration: Col. D. R. Collier, W. T. West, Dr. J. B. Kinnaird and Wm. McClelland Johnston. Mrs. Dr. Burnett, of Illinois, was the guest of her cousins, Misses Jennie and Lucy Arnold. Mrs. John E. Stormes and Mrs. Mollie White Young leave Friday for Covington on a short visit. Mrs. Steve Walker is the guest of Mrs. George Denny. Mr. Alex. Schwalbe, of Cincinnati, is the guest of Mr. Jake Joseph and family. Mrs. Sam Rout, of Stanford, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rus Denton. Mr. Mack Elliott leaves Saturday to visit friends in Louisville and thence to join his parents, Prof. and Mrs. Milton Elliott, at Mayfield. Dr. W. S. Beasley and Miss Lizzie Thompson, Charles Anderson and Miss Hallie Herring all leave to-morrow to be the guests of Miss Ethyl Beasley.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gundersman, of Diamond, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at Kives Junction she was brought down with pneumonia succeeding a gripe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last for hours with little intermission and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery. It was quick in its work and highly satisfactory results." Trial bottles free at W. B. McRoberts' Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.

GOV. BRADLEY, Inaugurated Amid Pomp and Ceremony.

Thousands of People See the Old Commonwealth Turned Over to the Republicans.

The City Bedecked in Holiday Array.

Citizen Soldiers and Brass Bands Calore.

Full Text of The Inaugural Address.

FRANKFORT, Dec. 10.

Frankfort was literally alive with people Tuesday to see Col. William O'Connell Bradley inducted into office. Every republican of prominence in the State was there to witness their chieftain take the oath and the reins of government of this Commonwealth and from their appearances they felt that it was good to be there. The city was beautifully decorated and presented the gayest appearance imaginable. The soldier boys were on hand by the hundreds and newspaper men were as thick as hiders as supposed to be in the Pionian regions.

The procession formed at 11 o'clock in West Frankfort and marched through the principal streets then over the bridge into Frankfort proper and on to the Capitol. The First and Second regiments were in line and 6,000 civilians, members of clubs from all over the State marched behind them. At the State house fully 20,000 people were gathered to witness the inaugural ceremonies. Mayor Julian presided and introduced the speakers in a few brief words. The program was as follows: Prayer by Dr. W. C. Taylor; address of parting and welcome by Judge W. H. Holt; valedictory by Gov. Brown and address by Gov. elect Bradley. At 1:45 Rev. D. Clay Lilly said a short benediction and the ceremonies were ended. Gov. Bradley with family and numerous friends were dined by the retiring governor at the mansion and at night the inaugural ball followed. It was a brilliant affair but as usual very little dancing was done.

Gov. Brown, in his address, said that democracy in this State was far from dead and that four years hence another democrat would be inaugurated. The old gentleman spoke very distinctly and if in the large assembly there was one who did not hear him it was his own fault.

Gov. Brown said Gov. Bradley this high compliment: For my distinguished successor I feel great admiration. He is a gentleman of ability, genial and kind in his nature, and of high integrity of character. He has won a phenomenal victory. I am sure that he will most honestly administer the affairs of State, and I extend to him here assurances of my personal good wishes.

Gov. Bradley's address is given in full and our readers can do their own commenting on it. He was in splendid voice and had every appearance of a man who could fill the gubernatorial chair acceptably. Both the retiring and the incoming governors read their addresses, which detracted to some extent from the merits of them. It looks like such able men should have found little or no trouble in memorizing such brief speeches.

Pick-pockets were as thick as hops and got in their work on the crowd. Numerous arrests were made, but only a few of the articles said to have been stolen were found.

Gov. Bradley's kinsfolk were on hand by the score and all were given seats in the speakers' stand. Mrs. Bradley, who occupied a front seat, is an unusually handsome lady and resembles her sister, Mrs. R. O. Warren, to a considerable extent. E. C. W.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

To say that I sincerely thank those who by their aid have elevated me to the highest office of the State, is giving but feeble expression to the gratitude that fills my heart.

With the gratification that follows triumph, comes the apprehension of inability to perform the duties of this great office. Long protracted and uninterrupted control by any party, universally results in injury to the State and begets negligence, carelessness and, not infrequently, corruption. Under such conditions, the succession of another party arouses public expectation to such a degree, that in most instances, however creditable, its administration is a source of disappointment. Profoundly impressed with this expectation, apprehensive lest my ability shall not prove equal to the emergency, I assume the duties of Chief Magistrate of our beloved Commonwealth, confidently leaning upon the patriotism of a splendid people for support and humbly invoking the aid of that Higher Power which directs the destiny of Nations.

The credit and honor of the State and Nation are of first importance. The recent popular verdict, which has declared in favor of the use of both gold and silver as money, but at the same time, the maintenance of the best and highest standard so that every dollar shall be of equal value, should be accepted and adhered to. And while public credit should be protected, we should none the less favor a well regulated system of protection to every branch of American industry; such a system as will encourage genius, nourish and increase diversified industries, maintain and enlarge a home market and protect every honest son of toil from the degradation of competition with the pauper labor of the old world. Together with this, should be fostered that reciprocity which will insure free exchange of our products with other Nations for commodities which can not be successfully grown, or manufactured in this country. The accomplishment and maintenance of these economic measures will develop our resources, advance our material prosperity and give to Kentucky the position she is entitled to occupy in the sisterhood of States.

In the management of State affairs, honesty and fidelity are demanded of every public officer, and any irregularities that may have been, or may be committed should be punished and the honor of the State and people vindicated at all hazards. Public officers are not the masters, but the servants of the people and, whenever they fail to faithfully and honestly discharge their duties, merit severest condemnation, discharge from the service and such punishment as the law provides.

Public education, the purification of the ballot, a just system of taxation, such as shall not fetter the material advancement of any section, shall at all times be promoted by every energy of which I am possessed.

The people rightly demand retrenchment and reform as well as the strictest economy in every branch of the public service, not inconsistent with the general welfare; and I promise to do everything in my power to see that their demand is literally complied with.

Above all things, the constitution, and laws within its spirit, must be enforced. Every citizen shall be protected in life, liberty and property at whatever cost. I solemnly appeal to the people in every locality, and to the officers of the State, for a faithful, energetic and fearless enforcement of the law. Nothing can be more effective, in the suppression of crime, than the cultivation and expression of a healthy public sentiment which will hold in just execration every criminal; more especially the murderer and assassin. Mob violence (which has its home in the breasts of cowards) should be prevented at all hazards; and, if committed, should be properly and severely punished. Such action is an open declaration of want of confidence in the courts and, instead of promoting, does serious injury to the welfare of the State. The commission of crime to punish crime can find no apology in a Christian civilization.

The people are the source of power. From them I hold my commission and to them I am responsible. Bearing this constantly in mind I shall respect and, without fear or favor, faithfully endeavor to carry out their will.

I shall do right, as God enables me to see right; be just, as He enables me to determine what is just, and, by the love that I cherish for this state of my birth, do all within me lies to advance her prosperity, enforce her laws, protect her citizens and maintain her honor, remembering always that I am not the governor of a party but of all the people.

Knowing that the wisdom of all can be more safely relied on than the wisdom of a portion; that next to the people the press is the greatest power, I appeal to both press and people, irrespective of party, now that the conflict has passed and the angry waves of party strife have sunk to rest, now that we are embarking on our voyage upon a calm and beautiful sea, for their advice and assistance in the advancement of the State, whose past is illustrious, whose present demonstrates so many needed improvements and whose future, if her sons but do their duty, will surpass the most extravagant expectation.

Trusting that at the end of the next four years, a record will have been made of which every citizen of the Commonwealth will be justly proud, and with an earnest prayer that not Kentucky alone, but every State of the Union, will have made substantial advancement, that the bonds of union and love between them will have grown stronger and our magnificent Republic will have advanced in material prosperity, power and grandeur, I conclude by thanking you, my countrymen, for this generous demonstration. I am now ready, Mr. Chief Justice, to take the oath of office.

ROBERT HARVEY PLEASANTS.

The long expected end came Wednesday night. Mr. R. H. Pleasants, who has been almost helpless and nearly blind for several years, breathed his last after a life unusually prolonged.

Mr. Pleasants was born in Goochland county, Va., Sept. 10, 1803, making him 92 his last birthday. When he was four years old his parents moved to Kentucky and he has since lived in the neighborhood of Crab Orchard. He was married to Miss Nancy Chandler Feb. 24, 1831 and seven children were born to them. She died in 1833 and the next year he married Miss Amelia Abraham, by whom he had two children. She also preceded him to the grave.

Since 1818, Mr. Pleasants has been a member of the Baptist church and has led an upright and consistent Christian life.

The funeral will occur this morning at 10 o'clock and then the remains will be consigned to their place in the old family burying ground.

CRAB ORCHARD.

—Madam Ramorelli insists that the chimneys of wedding bells are soon to be heard for even more than one wedding.

—The Sunday schools are planning for a union Christmas tree during the approaching holidays.

—Mr. James Fish and family have moved to town, occupying the houses recently vacated by Capt. Dillon. Miss Mollie Brooks has returned from a visit to Harrodsburg.

—Rev. Mr. Anderson will fill the pulpit in the Baptist church Sunday. He should be encouraged by a large hearing, for he, evidently, is the "right man in the right place."

—Mrs. Stapp and daughter, Miss Rena, are recovering from quite a severe attack of grip. Misses Bettie Higgins and Beatie Magee are on the sick list. Mr. H. Hutchison and family have been quite sick. Mr. J. E. Carson's family are improving after a long siege of sore throat and bad colds. Miss Annie Austin, of Garrard county, is filling her old place again in College Home. Mrs. D. B. Edmiston continues to steadily improve.

QUINSEY.—The New York World has a column edited by a doctor, who answers questions sent to him and this is the way he answered "M. R., of Stanford, Ky.," who asked for directions for treatment of quinsy and a preventive of the disease: Have your druggist prepare a mixture consisting of one-half dram of chlorate of potash, two drams of tincture of chloride of iron, one-half ounce of glycerine and enough distilled water to make four ounces. Take one teaspoonful every hour until relieved. Recurring attacks may be prevented by using a solution composed of one dram of pure carbolic acid, 10 drops of oil of peppermint and three drams of alcohol. Ten drops of the solution should be added to a teacup full of water and used as a gargle several times a day.

Manager—I have the honor to present to you Baby Otto. Although but six months of age he can already read print. I request some member of the audience to hand him a newspaper.

Little Otto receives a paper, holds it in his hands, but does not read.

Spectator—Bah! he can't read.

Manager—Of course, he can read but he can't talk yet.—Filigende Blaetter.

Who does not know women and young girls who are continually in tears? Who always see the dark side? Who have frequent fits of melancholy without any apparent cause? The intelligent physician will know that it is some derangement of the complicated and delicate feminine system. The young girl suffers bodily and mentally, in silence. There is undue weariness, unexpected pain, unaccountable fits and fits of anger. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription exerts a wonderful power over woman's delicate organism. It is an invigorating tonic and is specific for the peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and painful derangements of women. Careless, easy-going doctors frequently treat their women patients for biliousness, nervousness, dyspepsia, liver or kidney troubles, when the real sickness is in the organs distinctly feminine, and no help can come till they are made perfectly strong by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Major C. T. Picton is manager of the Star Hotel at Denison, Texas, which the traveling men say is one of the best hotels in that section. In speaking of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Major Picton says: "I have used it myself and in my family for several years, and take pleasure in saying that I consider it an infallible cure for diarrhoea and dysentery. I always recommend it, and have frequently administered it to my guests in the hotel, and in every case it has proven itself worthy of unqualified endorsement."
